PLANS FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF LARGE PLANT AT NEWELL

Up River Town Will be Scene of Activities Within Two Weeks.

FOR MAKING CHEMICALS

Twenty-Three Acres Will Be Covered By Immense Manufactory.

That Newell, the new industrial town across the river from California, is to become the scene of activities the like of which has not been witnessed in the Monongahela valley for some years, has been authentically rumored. Not long ago it was stated that the Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad would establish shops there for the manufacture of rails, and now comes the news that the General Electric company is to place chemical works there, for the manufacture of chemicals used in producing steel and other products. Not only that, but it is stated that the Pittsburg Steel company has secured an option on the Lilly and the Dixon farms, about two miles back of Newell, this land connecting on both the north and the south with the river.

The General Electric company, it is stated, would require not less than 23 acres for their plant, and the number of men employed would vary from 200 to 1,800, probably reaching the latter, when running full.

While the establishment of the chemical plant at Newell is not officially made public, Superintendent Riley of the P. and L. E., Monongahela division, has given the road supervisor orders for laying the switches at this point.

At the present time there are nightly 10 crews of the P. and L. E. laying over at Newell, or a total of 60 men. Formerly these crews were divided between Newell and McKees Rocks. This is regarded as the first move towards the establishing of P. and L. E. shops at Newell. The topography of the land at this place is eminently suited for railroad shops.

The Lilly and Dixon farms would be well suited for blast furnaces for the Pittsburg Steel company, owing to the situation of the land. Between the two farms on the north is a deep ravine which would provide a dumping ground for the furnaces, something that is a most necessary adjunct in the manufacture of pig iron. The Pittsburg Steel company has one of its largest plants at Monessen. Newell is but a few miles distant from Charleroi.

Young-Osborne.

Miss Ada Osborne and Gibson Young, both of Charleroi were married at the Christian church on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, Rev. H. C. Boblitt performing the ceremony. It was a very quiet wedding only a few witnesses being present. The couple will not take a trip but will go to housekeeping in a house already prepared in Fallowfield township.

Smith.

Mary Smith, aged 9 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of Fallowfield avenue, died this morning at 4 o'clock. The funeral will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Jerome's church. Interment in Calvary cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. S. Might are spending a brief vacation at Conneaut.

Burgess Reamer Vetoes Ordinance

Monessen Official Has Other Plans For Money Distribution.

Burgess Reamer of Monessen, during the past week, has vetoed two important ordinances. One of these was for the appropriation of money to the various committees, and the other was a sewer ordinance. Both were passed recently by council, and turned over to him for signature, only to get his veto. Burgess Reamer gives as his reason for the veto of the appropriations ordinance that he desires to have the money handled in a different way.

MUST GET LICENSES

Secretary of Board of Health Will Have Them For Dairymen.

ORDINANCE IS PRINTED

Dairymen must report to Dr. Edwin McKay, the secretary of the Board of Health, within the next few days in order to secure their licenses, their tabs and labels for the cans and wagons. This is in accordance with the ordinance passed on Tuesday night of this week by the Charleroi council, regarding the sale of milk.

When the dairymen appear for their licenses, they will have to sign a paper, stating that their cows are in good condition, and promising that they will live up to the sanitary laws contained in the ordinance. If these are violated afterwards, the one guilty is likely to lose his license. The license is to cost nothing. An examination of the premises and the cows will be made yearly by the inspector under the supervision of the board of health.

A meeting of the Board of Health was held last evening, and the secretary was instructed to procure tabs and labels for the cans and wagon of dairymen. Charleroi is the first town in the county, it is said, where such an ordinance has been put in effect. It is in accordance with the State law, and thus far has been enforced only in the larger cities. The ordinance as it passed council is being published today in the Mail.

Commissioners Favorable.

County Chairman R. G. Miller has interviewed the commissioners relative to the proposed vote on local option recommended in the resolutions adopted by the county committee Monday. The proposed vote is for an expression of sentiment as a guide for the action of our Assemblymen and Senators. The commissioners said they could see no objection why such a vote could be taken and said they would do what they could to have the ballots prepared accordingly at the next primary.

J. E. M'CARDLE ASSUMES CHARGE OF POST OFFICE THIS MORNING

John E. McCardle, the recently appointed postmaster of Charleroi, relieved John B. Brannagan of office this morning. The time of Mr. Brannagan was virtually out on June 30, but he remained at the post office yesterday and put everything in condition for Mr. McCardle, who this morning assumed charge. Dennis Oates, who relieves Miss Calista Kelly as assistant postmaster, was in the office last night, but in reality did not take up his duties until this afternoon.

There will be no change in the clerical force, as far as is known at the present time. William McFall will be the first clerk, as in the regime of Mr. Brannagan, and Miss Lydia Lambert second clerk. Edwin Cowell, will be in the position of third clerk.

The term of office for the postmaster in Charleroi is four years. Mr. Brannagan served almost two years beyond his time, from the reason of the holding up of his reappointment.

Mr. Branagan expects later in the year to take a trip to Europe, where he will remain for several months. He made a good official and everything was in the best of shape when he turned over the office to Mr. McCardle.

There was no inspector present to make the change of officials, the only persons being present beside the regular force when Mr. McCardle took charge was Harry Byers of Monessen, assistant postmaster of that place.

GUN CLUB'S WEEKLY SHOOT

Some Good Scores Are Made By Charleroi Gunners.

At the regular weekly practice shoot of the Charleroi Gun Club Thursday evening the following scores were made:

Schuyler broke 63 out of 75
Gween broke 62 out of 75
Stevens broke 54 out of 75
Emerick broke 54 out of 75
Grant broke 53 out of 75
Baxendell broke 38 out of 75
Shoemaker broke 44 out of 75
Irose broke 22 out of 50
Rowe broke 17 out of 25

Gween and Schuyler were tied on their first 50 birds with 45 each. Schuyler dropped 5 in his last 25 and Gween 6. Emerick shot a nice score for a beginner, getting 39 out of his last 50 birds.

RETURNS FROM KENTUCKY

James Crow has Relics Which He Secured in Blue Grass State.

J. T. Crow, who has been engaged in lumbering for some time at Greenup, Ky., returned last week to spend the Fourth with home folks. The point in Kentucky where Mr. Crow is located was the hunting ground of the Indians from prehistoric times until the advent of the English occupation, and there are many evidences of the aborigines still in existence. While there Mr. Crow opened several Indian mounds and graves, and secured many interesting relics. Among these are stone skinning knives, tomahawks and other articles carved out of stone.

One of the relics is called by old settlers there a bloodstone, which Indians were said to have used to rub on wounds and sores and was believed to possess great curative qualities. The display of relics is to be exhibited in the windows of Piper Bros.' drug store. Mr. Crow also brought back some timothy heads from Kentucky which measured 12 and 14 inches in length.

Sharpnack-Mason.

The many friends of Thomas P. Sharpnack and Miss Mildred Mason of North Charleroi were much surprised this morning when it was made known that the couple had been married on Tuesday at Cumberland, Md. The couple slipped off quietly and returned in the same manner, not allowing their friends an inkling of what was taking place. Mr. Sharpnack is an employe of the United States Government at North Charleroi and both are popular.

L. C. B. A. Outing.

A very enjoyable time was spent Wednesday evening by the members of the L. C. B. A. and their friends at Estherly Terrace, the home of Hon. and Mrs. Edward Callagha... The lawn was decorated with Japanese lanterns and presented a very picturesque appearance. About 40 guests were present. The diversions were games, music and cards. A sumptous lunch was served by the hostess.

CHANGE AT LOCK FOUR POST OFFICE

R. G. Staley Assumes Charge J. O. Watson Retiring.

Yesterday the North Charleroi postoffice changed postmasters, R. G. Staley assuming charge, relieving J. O. Watson, who has been in the position since 1904. Mr. Staley recently in an examination under the new law regarding the placing of postmasters for fourth-class offices, made the best average, of four applicants and was declared postmaster.

The North Charleroi post-office has doubled its business since Mr. Watson assumed charge. He has rendered effective service, and left affairs in good condition for Mr. Staley.

Mrs. Anna Wiley.

Mrs. Anna Wiley, the wife of Postmaster Newman K. Wiley of California, died yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock at her home at the age of 38 years. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the late home. Interment will be in the Highland cemetery. The deceased is survived by her husband and one son, John, at home. Mrs. Wiley has been an invalid for nearly four years. Three weeks ago she had her teeth extracted, and as a result it is thought blood poisoning set in, and death resulted. Mrs. Wiley died in the same house in which she was born. She is the daughter of the late John Shalenberger for some time State clerk at Harrisburg.

Street Railway Arbitrators Chosen

Head Officials Pick One Man And the Employes Another.

In compliance with the suggestion of Mayor Magee of Pittsburg adopted by the railway conductors and motormen of the Pittsburg Railways company and the company officials in the settlement of the strike, two arbitrators were named yesterday to arbitrate the case of James Ashford, who is charged with taking intoxicating drinks while in uniform.

The Railways company, through General Superintendent R. N. Jones chose D. B. Oliver. Ashford and the members of the union named Attorney William J. Brennean. Attorney Brennan and Mr. Oliver will make an effort to select a third man today. Should they fail to agree Mayor Magee is to name the third man to act with them.

VACANCY IS FILLED

George H. Chessman Elected To Position in High School.

COAL CONTRACT NOT LET

The school board succeeded in filling but one vacancy in the schools last night, at their regular meeting. This was the High School. George H. Cheeseman, last year in charge of the night school, was elected to the position of assistant principal. There is still one High School instructor, three grade teachers, a principal and the music teacher to elect.

It was voted to allow the building committee, of which George Gunderman is chairman, $100 for fixing up of playgrounds at the rear of the Fifth street school building. The place will be equipped in the latest manner for a playground.

Dr. O. A. Davis made a report of the result of the suit which had been instituted several days ago against the borough of Fayette City, to collect funds due for the instruction of pupils in the High School. The suit was favorable to Charleroi.

The matter of awarding of the bids for furnishing coal to the four buildings was left over, and bids will be readvertised for. There are 10,000 bushels to be delivered to the various buildings.

Have a "Swim" in The Natatorium And Then Take Lunch.

SUPT. GEORGE NASH HERE

Presented With a Stein, Toastmaster Sam Todd Making the Speech.

As a sequel to the excursion to Monessen two weeks ago, where they visited the plant of the Pittsburg Steel company, the Charleroi Merchants Association held a natatorium party at Turner Hall last night. Supt. Geo. Nash and his corps of assistants has been invited as honor guests from Monessen, and they were brought over the river in automobiles and shown through the Macbeth-Evans chimney factory. A most appetizing lunch was prepared and served by the young ladies of the Turn Verein, and the menu, which had a German flavor, appealed most strongly to the assembled company. All were loud in its praise.

S. C. Todd, who so ably presided at the Monessen feast as toastmaster, again officiated. He was introduced by President J. H. Bowers of the Merchants Association, and with a few well-timed remarks, presented Supt. Geo. Nash, the honor guest, with a handsome stein, a token from the association. Mr. Nash gracefully acknowledged its receipt, and expressed his appreciation of Charleroi hospitality.

Col. A. P. Stewart was called upon and recited with fine effect "Shannon's Old Shebeen." John D. Berryman next responded, and he gave a most forcible talk on home loyalty.

In introducing W. A. Miksch, superintendent of the decorating department of the Macbeth-Evans Glass company, who is also president of the local Turn Verein, Toastmaster Todd remarked that previous to a recent visit to the factory he was under the impression that pearl top chimneys were about the only product of the factory. He was amazed to learn that the pearl tops were only a side issue; that the company makes over 4,000 different patterns of lamp glasses.

Mr. Miksch welcomed the merchants to the club house of the Turn Verein, and said the premises were at the disposal of the guests. Speaking of the decorating department Mr. Miksch said this branch was new yet in the country, but in the past five years it had stopped a big percentage of the importations of this ware from abroad. The Macbeth-Evans factory is one of a very few plants in the United States, less than half a dozen, that has developed this branch of the industry.

Others who responded to the call of the toastmaster were Assistant Superintendent Rowe of the Pittsburg Steel company of Monessen; Christopher Brown, superintendent of the Carrara department of the Pittsburg Plate Glass company at Charleroi, W. C. Clark, T. P. Sloan and E. C. Niver.

After the exercises the company adjourned to the natatorium below where those who desired took a plunge in the well appointed swimming pool. Others remained above and listened to the music by the Turn Verein singing society, which, under the direction of Prof. Joseph Grundhoffer of Monongahela, rendered a fine program. This

How it is Done.

The remarks of Supt. W. A. Miksch of the decorating department of the Macbeth-Evans Glass company at the Merchants Association lunch at Turner Hall last night conveyed some information that is important. This is that Charleroi is the scene of the development of a new industry which in the past five years has materially decreased importations of decorated products that are now made here in sufficient quantities to give employment to a big army of workmen, as well as the establishment of an industry that is bound to rapidly expand and become permanent. Five years ago decorated shades, chimneys, and lamp glasses were made almost entirely abroad, and the Macbeth-Evans people are among the pioneers to establish the industry in this country.

This is an object lesson of the importance of protection for American industries. In this particular instance, as in every other, a start is made by a single factory. It is readily seen how easily this could have been broken down by the combined interests from abroad if the infant industry did not receive protection at the start. As the product of one factory must of necessity be limited, the European manufacturers could have sold their product in competition under cost for a time if they finally succeeded in breaking down the new concern. After that was done an increase in prices would have recouped all the losses.

All new industries have a struggle for existence. The rapid development of this country's industries shows most conclusivelly that the policy of protection shortens this struggle and gives permanency almost from the start. It is the policy of progress for this country.

It Works.

By voting $100 to equip available school grounds for public play grounds during the vacation period, the Charleroi school board has performed a most important service. In all probability the time is not far distant when the school board will go a step further and employ a teacher for each school ground thus equipped to look after the children, and teach them to play and enjoy themselves rationally and profitably. This is already being done in some localities.

If any persons doubt the wisdom of providing public playgrounds, they should look over the one on the Berryman lot on Fifth street. This is so crowded at times that all cannot participate in the amusements provided, and many stand awaiting a turn. Nothing is more necessary for Charleroi than continuing and extending this project, and it would be public economy to impose a tax for the purpose of maintanance. The system works.

Heavy Tribute.

Wothless dogs exact a heavy tribute from the farmers and stock-raisers of Washington county. According to the Washington Record, which has made an investigation from the county records, claims for damages from this source are filed against the county aggregation $6,450. These cannot be paid until the damage fund, created by the tax on dogs, is replenished. There is never enough dog tax collected to pay for the damage done by the worthless curs.

Even though farmers eventually get paid for damage done by dogs the community suffers a distinct loss, as something useful is destroyed and is not replaced by anything useful. So far as utility goes there is no comparison betwen the flocks of sheep destroyed last year and the flock of dogs that take their place. So long as dogs take the place of sheep, lamb chops, mutton and wool socks will be expensive luxuries. The dogs must go.

The scrupulousness with which some people observe the various week day holidays betrays the fact that with them Sunday is not always the day it should be.

The merchants in swimming looks like a lot of Apollo Belvideres (?) But then what can you expect from such a bunch of hard workers?

A NOVEL POLICEMAN.

Story About a Sagacious Dog and His Master's Money.

One day a man laid a wager with his friend that if he were to hide a silver half dollar in the dusty road his dog would find it and bring it to him. The wager was accepted and the coin secreted. When the two had walked some distance from the hidden coin the owner called his dog, explained that he had lost something and ordered him to find it. The dog turned back, while the two friends continued their walk.

Meanwhile a traveler driving along the deserted road saw the silver piece shining through the dust and picked it up and put it in his coat pocket just as the dog came to the spot. The man re-entered his phaeton and drove to the inn, closely followed by the dog. The dog scented the coin in the man's pocket and made wild leaps at him to obtain it, but the man, supposing the animal had taken a fancy to him and wanted a master, gave the dog food and caresses and took him to his bedchamber for the night. No sooner had the man undressed than the dog seized the coat and made for the door. The man opened the door to see if any one was without, when the dog bounded through the hall and did not stop until, coat in mouth, he reached his master's house. The traveler followed and accused the dog of robbery. "My dog is a very faithful creature, and if he ran away with your coat it is because you have money in your pocket which does not belong there."

The traveler grew angry, but when the master explained the burial of the half dollar and the dog's desire to find it he understood and cheerfully gave up the money, saying as he patted the dog, "You are indeed a novel policeman."—Philadelphia Ledger.

A STIRRING INCIDENT.

How a Child's Life Was Saved by a Blast of Bugles.

The drum major of a German regiment recently showed that he does not lose his head in an emergency, says the Chicago News. The regiment was on the march from one station to another and had halted on a country road to rest. Suddenly the men heard the terrified cries of a child, and, looking in the direction from which they came, they saw a little girl running for her life from a maddened bull. The animal was tearing along with lowered horns and was so close to the girl that rescue by interference or even by shooting the bull seemed impossible. Just as the men had given up the child for lost the drum major shouted to the buglers, who stood near by with their instruments in their hands, to blow a loud blast. Not realizing what he meant, but obeying mechanically, they blew a blast that would have waked the dead. The moment the bull heard the sound he stopped and looked in surprise at the men and then raised his head and bellowed with all his might. Meanwhile several of the men had reached the child, and when the bull had recovered from his astonishment at the unusual noise she was in a place of safety.

In a certain city, which shall be nameless, a literary man had . . . his wife as she was starting down town to buy a couple of shirts for him. She asked him what kind, and he answered, "Size 15."

"Yes, but"—

"Two dollars."

"But I want to know"—

"Oh, the color? Well, I've plenty of white shirts. Get me something that won't show soot. Now, don't bother me any more, please. I'm at work."

She did not bother him any more. She went away and in the afternoon returned with her purchases.

"Here are your shirts, John," she said, laying them down before him.

"Why, they are coal black, I declare!" he exclaimed.

"Yes, that's the only kind that won't show soot. They are just what you told me to buy. Now, don't bother me by talking about them. I have got to go and look after the children."

Notorious Women Gamblers.

One of the most notorious female gamblers of the eighteenth century was Miss Pelham, the daughter of the English prime minister. She not only ruined herself at cards, but would have beggared her sister Mary as well had not their friends intervened and . . . dosed on the letters separating Horace Walpole; "for a period of . . . Miss Pelham sit up all night . . . hundreds a night and her temper, beating her head and making a scene before the young men and the waiters." Another writer says that the unhappy woman often played cards with the tears streaming down her cheeks.

Lady Mary Compton, an old maiden lady, a contemporary of Miss Pelham and, like her, addicted to gambling, had the same propensity to tears. When she lost, we are told, she wept bitterly—"not for the loss itself," she was careful to explain, "but for the unkindness of the cards."

ROYAL MAIDS.

When They Wish to Marry They Must Do the Proposing

When a reigning queen is to be married she must be the one to broach the subject first to her future consort. The same rule holds good with regard to all royal ladies who marry commoners.

The late Queen Victoria has told how she managed to "put the question" to Prince Albert—how she first showed him Windsor and its beauties and the distant landscape and then said, "All this may be yours." The queen of Holland on a like occasion simply sent a sprig of white heather, begging Prince Henry to look out its meaning in a book of flowers and their meanings. The Duchess of Argyll took the following means of proposing to the Marquis of Lorne: She was about to attend a state ball and gave it out that she would choose as her partner for the first dance the man she intended to honor. She selected the marquis, who subsequently became her husband.

But perhaps the most interesting of all ways chosen was that of the Duchess of Fife. She took the earl, as he then was, to a drawer and showed him its contents. There he saw a number of trifles he had given her at different times, including sprigs of several kinds of flowers, now dead, he had picked for her at various times. He was much impressed at the sight, nor did it require words on her part to make her meaning plain.—London Answers.

London Snowstorms.

The purifying effect of a snowstorm on city air was shown in London by experiments which demonstrated five times the amount of impurities on week days, when all the factories are active, as on Sundays. It was figured out that nevertheless a single Sunday snowstorm carried to the surface of the county of London 75 tons of dissolved solids, 142 tons of suspended matters, 100 tons of coal, 25 tons of salt and a ton of ammonia.—London Chronicle.

A Sudden Start.

"You used to go to school with Coppers, the new millionaire, didn't you?"

"I did. Fact is, I gave him his first start in life."

"How?"

"With a bent pin."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

On His Birthday.

He—The worst thing about me is my nose, I've got such a beastly one. She—You shouldn't say such things about a gift. He—A gift? I—ah—don't understand. She—Wasn't it a birthday present?—New York Journal.

Wherever we meet misery we owe pity.—Dryden.

ADENOIDS.

The Way These Growths Endanger the Health of Children.

Adenoids are curious little cauliflower-like growths which appear at the junction of the nasal cavity and the pharynx. They are often observed at birth, but they seldom cause discomfort until some months later. Then they interfere with respiration and cause the baby to be restless. It tosses in its sleep and wakens suddenly, crying out as if in distress.

If adenoids are permitted to remain they deform the mouth, teeth, throat, chest and face. At their worst they produce pop eyes and what is called a frog face. They cause mouth breathing, with all its attendant evils. They open the way for a hundred and one ills, from rupture of the eardrum, running from the ears, coughs and tonsilitis to pulmonary tuberculosis.

A slight operation suffices to remove them. The baby suffers little pain and loses little blood. Out they come, and with them the overgrown tonsils that commonly accompany them. If they are suffered to remain they may never be discovered. But it is certain that in one way or another, directly or indirectly, they will cause damage.—Dr. Leonard Keene Hirshbergin in Delineator.

General Washington on Looting.

Headquarters, Sept. 6, 1776.—The Gen'l is Resolved to put a stop to Plundering or converting Publick or Private Property to their own Use when taken off or found by any Soldier, he therefore calls upon all the Men to exert themselves against it, and if the Coll. or other Officers of Reg'ts see or know of any Horses, furniture, Merchandize, and such other Property in the hands of any Officer or Soldier and does not immediately take hold of it, giving immediate notice of it to their Brigadier Gen'l, such Officers will be deemed a Party, brought to Court Martial & broke with Infamy. For let it ever be Remembered that no Plundering Army was ever a Successful one.—From General Washington's Personal Order Book in Journal of American History.

Too Public.

The young lady, with her fiance, was awaiting a street car. After several cars had passed and they could not get aboard the young man became impatient. When the next car stopped at the corner he leaped upon the platform and said in pleading terms, "Come on, Mary; we can manage to squeeze in here, can't we?" The young woman colored slightly, but bravely replied, "I suppose we can, dear, but don't you think we had better wait until we get home?"—Buffalo Commercial.

OPERATION HER ONLY CHANCE

Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Adrian, Ga.—"I suffered untold misery from a female weakness and disease, and I could not stand more than a minute at a time. My doctor said an operation was the only chance I had, and I dreaded it almost as much as death. One day I was reading how other women had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it. Before I had taken one bottle I was better, and now I am completely cured."—LENA V. HENRY, Route No. 3, Adrian, Ga.

Why will women take chances with an operation or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

Piper Bros. are pleased to announce to their customers that they have secured the agency for ZEMO, the best known remedy for the positive and permanent cure of Eczema, Pimples, Dandruff, Blackheads, Piles and every form of Skin or Scalp disease. Zemo gives instant relief and cures by destroying the germ that causes the disease, leaving a clean, healthy skin. See display and photos of cures made by Zemo at Piper Bros. SHE CAN'T PLEASE ALL.

The Many Trials of the Girl Who Is Advised.

There are some women who never give their friends much anxiety. Whether or not they are any stronger physically than some of their sisters, people seem content to take them and their welfare pretty much for granted. "Oh, to be in that favored class!" says the girl whose friends just love to worry about her.

She is one of many. You know the type. They are, as a matter of fact, rather reckless in matters pertaining to their health. They are too busy doing other things, but they have the unfortunate failing of "looking frail." They are thin instead of stout, pale instead of rosy, and when tired their eyes have the strange propensity of looking like the proverbial burnt holes in a blanket.

By common consent it seems to have been agreed upon that they need tending and constant watching.

If a chance friend meets one of them on the street she would blush to miss the chance of recommending her pet cure-all.

"I tell you what you ought to do," says the robust person. "You just get into the habit of taking egg and milk three times a day and you'll look like another person."

The next time it is cod liver oil that is just what she needs, and again it's horseback riding three times a week or massage that would do wonders for her.

The solicitous interest of a batch of friends would be trying enough to put up with if they didn't all insist upon proffering advice profusely.

One can't be taking eggnogs and eating juicy steaks and lying down and taking walks in the fresh air all the time. One hasn't time to attend to so many matters, and, besides, sometimes they conflict.

"The waist you sent looks very well on me," writes one girl, "especially when I 'stand up straight,' as Lucile is always thumping me on the back and commanding me to do.

"I strut about looking very smart in my new blouse and very well pleased with myself and my straight, upstanding position until Jane comes along and admonishes me to relax. 'Child, relax. You must relax,' she chants solemnly.

"It's really quite a problem to know what to do, for I'm strong on making them all happy, but I can't be standing up straight and relaxing and throwing back my shoulders and lying down for a little rest all at the same time—these dear 500 friends, if only one could please them all, but how can it be done?"

Inherited.

"I entertained some friends at dinner the other night at a well known hotel in Boston," said a New Yorker, just returned from the Hub, "and was served by an ebony giant on whom lampblack would make a white mark. It is the custom at that particular hostelry for the waiters to write their own orders. Upon receiving my bill I could scarcely check the items. The spelling bore no similarity to any other under the sun.

"'Sam,' I said, 'this is the worst spelling I ever saw,' and added facetiously, 'where did you learn to spell?'

"Without moving a muscle Sam replied courteously, 'I reckon, boss, I must have inherited it from my ancestors.'

"The laugh being on me, Sam got an extra tip."—New York Times.

A Heroic Dog.

Near the Hospice of St. Bernard, Switzerland, is a monument to Barry, one of the dogs, which always interests tourists. This animal died some years ago, and a writer in the Wide World Magazine tells his story: "During the ten years he was at the hospice he saved the lives of forty persons who had lost their way in the snow. On one occasion he found a child ten years old lying in the snow under the influence of the fatal slumber which precedes death. The dog warmed the child with its breath and then roused it from sleep by licking it. This much accomplished, Barry by lying down on its side gave the child an obvious invitation to get upon its back and ride. The child did so and was carried to the monastery. Barry was killed by some unknown person, probably in mistake." The inscription on the monument is: "Barry, the Heroic. Saved the Lives of Forty Persons and Was Killed by the Forty-first."

HOME HINTS.

When ivory handles have turned yellow rub them with turpentine and it will restore their color.

To prevent wooden pails or tubs from shrinking when not in use paint them over with glycerine.

Coarse salt sprinkled on the floor occasionally before sweeping is said to be a good preventive of moths.

If the juice of a fruit pie runs out, try putting a small funnel of white paper in the center of the upper crust.

Try washing the hands with a little sugar added to the soap. This greatly increases the cleansing power and will remove dirt and chemical stains in a wonderful manner.

If when salt and flour bags are emptied you will put them in the clothes hamper to be washed and boiled out, you will always have a supply of jelly strainers. The salt bag is just the thing for the odd glasses of jelly made all during the season.

It is a great mistake to use fine glass tumblers for lemon squash or other beverages which are required to be very highly iced. If they are employed, however, the precaution should be observed of placing them to steep for some little time in cold water before filling them with the iced drink.

Gives Studio Teas For Pet Cats.

Desire to attract attention probably is just as strong among American women writers as it is among their sisters in France, but in this republic they do not dare go to the length of wearing men's clothes, which have been adopted recently by ambitious penwomen in France. The law there being lenient, these literary lionesses are permitted to stride down the boulevards garbed in fur trousers. But in America this is not possible, and women of letters must have recourse to other methods. An eccentric writer who bears a high sounding title delights, when receiving guests, to wear diaphanous drapery and repose on a lounge. Sometimes she shuts her eyes, and the guests may have the pleasure of gazing on sleeping beauty. Society seems to have discarded freak performances only that "intellectual queens" may take them up. A pretty young writer in Washington, whose father has an official position, gives studio teas for the pet cats of her friends, and the company spend hours solemnly selecting the proper shade of ribbon to make a neck ruff for a particular pussy.

Fatal Vacillation.

Cultivate firmness of purpose. Without it, though your talents are high and your opportunities wide, your life record will be "nothing done."

Who is the one among your friends who has arrived? Is it the show girl of school days, the girl who could do many things well, but rarely knew what she wanted to do? The successful one is the girl of whom you can remember nothing save her pertinacity.

No girl succeeds who does not set her mind along a certain line and stick to it, though difficulties mount and temptations to turn aside are strong.

ANSWERED THE LETTER.

The Way a Brooklyn Politician Once Won a Bet.

There is, or was a few years ago, a neatly framed letter hanging in the consulting room of a Brooklyn doctor which he found in his mail one winter morning. It ran as follows:

Princeton, Jan. 12, 1888.

Dear Sir—I cheerfully accede to your request and acknowledge the compliment paid to my wife and daughter by bestowing their names upon your own twin daughters, and I hope these children may be spared to be of constant comfort to their parents. Sincerely yours,

GROVER CLEVELAND.

The young doctor's brain whirled. Being a bachelor and having no acquaintance with the former president, he could not understand it at all.

The mystery was solved when a friend of the doctor's, a Brooklyn politician, met him. The politician had made a bet with a cynical acquaintance that any American statesman would personally reply to a courteous letter from the humblest of his countrymen. The cynic took him up and named Grover Cleveland. The terms of the bet were that the answer to a letter mailed on Jan. 3 must be received before Jan. 25. Signing the young doctor's name, the politician wrote of how his marriage had been blessed by twin daughters. Would it be asking too much for an autograph letter to frame which the sweet twins could look upon and read when they grew up and cherish ever afterward?

Mr. Cleveland courteously and promptly answered the letter, and the politician won his bet.—New York Tribune.

THE GREAT ROOT JUICE WILL BE HERE IN THE MORNING

The Wonderful Health Creating Discovery Will be at Piper's Drug Store.

So much has been published and said about the scientist and his great discovery and so many stories have been told of the wonders accomplished in a very few days with his great health-giving Root Juice that many are getting anxious and would like to see the wonderful remedy that has made many remarkable cures during the past few months. The newspapers of a number of cities have told of hundreds of cures the Root Juice has made, and some of the stories afloat are almost too good to be true. It is said that many people who had given up hope of ever seeing another well day—even some who the best doctors of the country had pronounced incurable—after taking the juice a short while were restored to perfect health. The remedy seems to remove a soreness from the stomach, bowels and bladder, and soon so heals the kidneys and liver that the blood making and blood filtering organs work in healthy unison. Then all forms of indigestion, belching, heart-burn, sick headache and constipation are cured as the cause his has been removed. It seems that it cures rheumatism by preventing fermentation in the stomach and bowels and by giving the kidneys the health and the strength to filter all accumulated acid from the blood. The reporter was told that the demonstrations would begin in the morning at Piper Bros. drug store.

Root Juice is $1 a bottle. Three bottles for $.250.

DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve is good for cuts, burns and bruises and is especially good for piles. Refuse substitute. Sold by Piper Bro. eodtf

Berryman's

CHARLEROI'S LIVE STORE

THE BIG SALE

The Summer Sale is Now On

It's your chance to buy all your hot weather goods. Big saving prices.

Berryman's sales are always remarkable for their bargains and their truthfulness. Every item we told of in our big bill is here and just the bargain we said it would be.

We call your most particular attention to the big lots of new and beautiful wash goods that are being sold for about half their real value.

See the special lots of white summer bed spreads—six lots to close—light weight dimity spreads very cheap.

Big lots of 25c Dutch collars for 15c. Wonderful value.

Domestic Economy.

"Nora, was that the coal man I saw making love to you yesterday evening?"

"Yes, ma'am, but I 'ope, ma'am"—

"Does he love you very much, Nora?"

"'E says 'e does, ma'am."

"Devotedly?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"Well, you tell him that unless he gives us better weight than he has been doing we shall get our coal elsewhere."—London Illustrated Bits.

Within Her Means.

A pretty little girl of three years was in a drug store with her mother. Being attracted by something in the showcase, she asked what it was. The clerk replied, "That is a scent bag."

"How cheap!" replied the little girl. "I'll take two."—Lippincott's.

His Little Joke.

It was just two years after their wedding.

"George," she said romantically as she gazed at the fantastic pictures the red coals formed, "do you remember our courting days?"

George laughed teasingly.

"No, my dear. I do not."

She looked up with a hurt expression.

"George, do you mean to sit there and say you do not remember our courting days? Why, I am shocked at your coldness."

"No, dear; I do not remember our courting days because only night watchmen have to do their courting in the daytime. But I do remember our courting nights, and they were delightful, pet."

But she said he was too horrid for anything.—Chicago News.

The Chinese Sampans.

In Canton 400,000 people spend their whole existence in boats, which are there called sampans. They are born in them, live in them from infancy to old age and finally die in them. Collectively these boats form a floating suburb to the city proper, one of the most amazing human settlements in the world. Every creek is crammed with them. Along the main banks of the river they are huddled twenty deep—so close together that the covering of mats appears continuous as far as the eye can reach. And each sampan houses a separate family, with its own big brazier lamp, which serves for heating, lighting and cooking the evening meal. The scene when a really serious conflagration once gets a proper hold in the midst of these floating wooden homes may be imagined. Escape is impossible except for those moored at the outermost edge. In one of these conflagrations over a thousand persons lost their lives.

ORDINANCES NO. 215.

An ordinance regulating the sale of milk and cream in the Borough of Charleroi; providing for the licensing of persons, firms and corporations to sell milk or cream in the Borough of Charleroi; providing for the marking of the wagon or other vehicle with the name and number of the license; providing for the examination of herds; prohibiting the mixture of borax, boracic acid and other drugs and chemicals with milk, cream or buttermilk; regulating the amount of fat to be contained in milk and cream; prohibiting the sale of milk or cream from residenses infected with contagious disease; regulating the housing and stabling of cows, providing for the cleaning of cows before milking; prohibiting the sale of milk or cream from cows within certain specified times of calving; regulating the care and manner of milking and the handling of the milk at the dairies and on the wagons and vehicles; imposing a penalty for failure to procure license or for breach of any of the requirements of this ordinance.

Be it ordained and enacted by the Burgess and Town Council of the Borough of Charleroi, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by authority of the same:

Section 1. No person or persons, firm or corporation, shall sell milk or cream in the Borough of Charleroi without first, annually before the first day of March, making application to the Board of Health, which application shall set forth his, her or their name or names together with location of place of business, and the name of the owner of and location of the dairies from which they obtain said milk or cream, and such other information relating to the care of said dairy and the production and care of milk and cream as may be deemed necessary by said Board of Health, said application to constitute an agreement between the applicant and the Board of Health for faithful compliance with all the rules and regulations of said Board, and obtaining from the Board of Health a license to carry on such business, which license shall be issued without charge and shall be displayed in every store or wagon from which said milk or cream is sold.

Section 2. Each and every person or persons peddling milk or cream in the Borough of Charleroi shall have the wagon or vehicle from which milk or cream is sold, enclosed conspicuously marked, in plain letters not less than three [3] inches high with his, her or their name or names and the number of the license under which said milk or cream is sold. And each and every person or persons peddling milk or cream in the Borough of Charleroi without the use of wagon or other vehicle shall have each vessel or can used for this purpose plainly and legibly marked with the name and number of license, in a conspicious place in letters at least ½ inch in height.

Section 3. No milk or cream shall be sold, offered for sale or distributed in the Borough of Charleroi unless each and every animal in the herds from which said milk is obtained shall have been examined within one year, to the satisfaction of the Board of Health, and the veterinarian shall furnish to the owner or owners of said herds a certificate, on blanks to be furnished by the Board of Health, which certificate shall be sworn and subscribed to before a duly authorized magistrate.

Section 4. No person or persons, firm or corporation, shall offer or expose for sale, sell or have in their possession with intent to sell in the Borough of Charleroi any milk, cream or buttermilk, to which has been added borax, boracic acid, salicylate of soda, benzoate of soda, formalin or formaldehyde, or any other chemical, compound or foreign substance whatsoever, including ice or water. The precentage of fats in milk is not to to be less than three [3] per cent. and that of cream not less than fifteen [15] per cent. and vessels or cans containing buttermilk must be plainly labeled as such.

Section 5. No milk shall be sold or handled by any person or persons in whose family or residence there is a case of smallpox, scarlet fever, diptheria, typhoid fever, epidemic cerebrospinal meningitis [spotted fever], measles, or other communicable disease that may be disseminated by milk or its products, nor from any dairy or premises, on which such diseases exist, except by permission of, and in manner prescribed by the Board of Health, and in accordance with the rules and regulations of the State Department of Health, and it shall be the duty of every person having charge or control of any premises upon which cows are kept to notify the Board of Health of any such disease on the premises.

Section 6. No milk or cream shall be sold or exposed for sale in the Borough of Charleroi except from cows kept in light dry and well ventilated stables and in all other respects in conformity with the requirements set forth in the following rules:

Rule 1. Each cow shall have at least three [3] feet in width of floor space, when fastened in stanchions, and in all cases where no adequate artificial means for ventilation are provided, each animal shall have an air space of at least five hundred [500] cubic feet.

Rule 2. Milk drawn from cows fed on distillery waste or any substance in a state of fermentation or putrefaction or any unwholesome food shall not be kept, sold or offered for sale in the Borough of Charleroi.

Rule 3. All stables for shelter of said cattle shall be provided with a tight, dry floor. The manure drop shall be so constructed as to provide a clean and sanitary stall.

Rule 4. The wall and ceilings of said stables shall be clean and free from dirt which might fall into the milk at the time of milking.

Rule 5. Manure shall not be allowed to accumulate in large quantities in stable yards, nor near the building where the cattle are kept, and when stored temporarily in such places it shall be removed at least once a week to a distance of at least twenty-five [25] feet from said stable. The stable yards shall be drained and kept in a clean, dry condition, and no accumulation of household garbage, vegetable or other putrescible matter shall be allowed to remain or decay, in said stable yards.

Rule 6. Cattle, especially their udders and flanks, shall at all times be kept in a clean condition, and the udders shall be wiped dry and clean with a clean, damp cloth before milking.

Rule 7. No milk or cream shall be sold or offered for sale, or distributed in the Borough of Charleroi, obtained from any cow that has calved within five [5] days, or from a cow that will calve within twenty-one [21] days.

Sec. 8. No milk or cream shall be sold or exposed for sale in the Borough of Charleroi except from cows fed and watered under proper conditions, and only such foods and such food which shall be sound and wholesome, and the water supply pure and free from all contamination by cesspools or household drainage.

Sec. 9. All milkers and other attendants employed in any dairy, the milk or cream from which is sold or offered for sale or delivered in the Borough of Charleroi shall be personally clean and healthy and before milking or caring for the milk or cream, they shall be provided with and required to be attired in a clean suit of clothes and to wash their hands before handling the milk or cream and before milking each cow.

Sec. 9. All milk pails, cans and other receptacles used for the production and transportation of milk or cream shall be of some non-absorbent material and shall before each use, be thoroughly washed with water and soap, or soda, and then scalded with boiling water or live steam, thoroughly aired and kept upside down in a cool place, and they must not, under any circumstances, be rinsed with cold water, unless the same shall have been previously boiled before using.

Sec. 10. No milk or cream shall be kept for sale or distributed, or handled, transferred to or from cans and bottles, or stored, in any stables or similar places, or in any room used wholly or in part for domestic or sleeping purposes.

Sec. 11. Milk or cream shall be stored or regularly mixed, cooled or poured from cans, only in a room not directly connected with a stable or stables, provided with a tight floor, and kept constantly neat and clean, the walls of the room being of such a nature as to allow easy and thorough cleaning, and the room being of such size and construction as to prevent probable contamination, by dust, noxious gases, infectious organisms or anything liable to impair the quality of such milk or milk products.

Sec. 12. No water-closet or privy shall be in the aforesaid room nor in any room connected directly therewith, nor shall dog or cats or other domestic animals be allowed in these rooms at any time.

Section 13. Whenever milk or cream is filtered or strained, cooled or in stored room, said room shall be such as is described in sections 10 and 11.

Section 14. No person or corporation shall deliver or bring into the borough of Charleroi for sale, any milk or cream, unless such milk or cream is contained in a can or container sealed with a metal seal by the shipper thereof and unless such can or container shall have such seal intact at the time it is brought into the borough.

Section 15. Milk or cream kept for sale in any store, shop, market, bakery, hotel, restaurant or other establishment, shall be always kept in a covered cooler, box, or refrigerator, properly drained and cared for and while therein shall be tightly covered or closed, and only in such location and under such conditions as shall be approved by the Board of Health.

Section 16. All cans, bottles or vessels of any sort used in the sale, delivery or distribution of milk or cream to the consumer, must be clean and boiled, baked, scalded or steamed, by the same dealer before they are again used for the same purpose, and bottles must not be filled with milk or cream except at the dairy or milk depot from which distribution is made.

Section 17. Under no circumstances shall a milk or cream dealer in the Borough of Charleroi, or his or her employes, take from a house within which any of the diseases mentioned in Section 5 of these regulations exist any money, tickets, cans, bottles, etc., or enter such a house for any purpose whatsoever without written permission from the Board of Health.

Section 18. Whenever any of the diseases mentioned in Section 5 of these regulations becomes epidemic in the Borough of Charleroi as adjudged by the health authorities, the use of milk bottles and such other containers as are left on consumers premises by milk dealers or their employe's shall be discontinued within the Borough of Charleroi until such time as existing health conditions warrant the permission of the health authorities to resume their use.

Both the householder and milk dealer will be held responsible for any violations of this regulation.

Each and every person, firm or corporation shall be liable to a fine of not less than $5.00 nor more than $50.00 for each and every violation of this ordinance or of any of the several regulations herein contained, said fine or fines to be collected as other fines are by law collectable.

All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance are hereby repealed.

PLANS FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF LARGE PLANT AT NEWELL

Up River Town Will be Scene of Activities Within Two Weeks.

FOR MAKING CHEMICALS

Twenty-Three Acres Will Be Covered By Immense Manufactory.

That Newell, the new industrial town across the river from California, is to become the scene of activities the like of which has not been witnessed in the Monongahela valley for some years, has been authentically rumored. Not long ago it was stated that the Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad would establish shops there for the manufacture of rails, and now comes the news that the General Electric company is to place chemical works there, for the manufacture of chemicals used in producing steel and other products. Not only that, but it is stated that the Pittsburg Steel company has secured an option on the Lilly and the Dixon farms, about two miles back of Newell this land connecting on both the north and the south with the river.

The General Electric company, it is stated, would require not less than 28 acres for their plant, and the number of men employed would vary from 200 to 1,000, probably reaching the latter, when running full.

While the establishment of the chemical plant at Newell is not officially made public, Superintendent Riley of the P. and L. E., Monongahela division, has given the road supervisor orders for laying the switches at this point.

At the present time there are nightly 10 crews of the P. and L. E. laying over at Newell, or a total of 60 men. Formerly these crews were divided between Newell and McKees Rocks. This is regarded as the first move towards the establishing of P. and L. E. shops at Newell. The topography of the land at this place is eminently suited for railroad shops.

The Lilly and Dixon farms would be well suited for blast furnaces for the Pittsburg Steel company, owing to the situation of the land. Between the two farms on the north is a deep ravine which would provide a dumping ground for the furnaces, something that is a most necessary adjunct in the manufacture of pig iron. The Pittsburg Steel company has one of its largest plants at Monessen, Newell is but a few miles distant from Charleroi.

Young-Osborne.

Miss Ada Osborne and Gibson Young, both of Charleroi were married at the Christian church on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, Rev. H. C. Boblitt performing the ceremony. It was a very quiet wedding only a few witnesses being present. The couple will not take a trip but will go to housekeeping in a house already prepared in Fallowfield township.

Smith.

Mary Smith, aged 9 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of Fallowfield avenue, died this morning at 4 o'clock. The funeral will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Jerome's church. Interment in Calvary cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. S. Might are spending a brief vacation at Conneaut.

Burgess Reamer Vetoes Ordinance

Monessen Official Has Other Plans For Money Distribution.

Burgess Reamer of Monessen, during the past week, has vetoed two important ordinances. One of these was for the appropriation of money to the various committees, and the other was a sewer ordinance. Both were passed recently by council, and turned over to him for signature, only to get his veto. Burgess Reamer gives as his reason for the veto of the appropriations ordinance that he desires to have the money handled in a different way.

MUST GET LICENSES

Secretary of Board of Health Will Have Them For Dairymen.

ORDINANCE IS PRINTED

Dairymen must report to Dr. Edwin McKay, the secretary of the Board of Health, within the next few days in order to secure their licenses, their tabs and labels for the cans and wagons. This is in accordance with the ordinance passed on Tuesday night of this week by the Charleroi council, regarding the sale of milk.

When the dairymen appear for their licenses, they will have to sign a paper stating that their cows are in good condition, and promising that they will live up to the sanitary laws contained in the ordinance. If these are violated afterwards, the one guilty is likely to lose his license. The license is to cost nothing. An examination of the premises and the cows will be made yearly by the inspector under the supervision of the board of health.

A meeting of the Board of Health was held last evening, and the secretary was instructed to procure tabs and labels for the cans and wagon of dairymen. Charleroi is the first town in the county, it is said, where such an ordinance has been put in effect. It is in accordance with the State law, and thus far has been enforced only in the larger cities. The ordinance as it passed council is being published today in the Mail.

Commissioners Favorable.

County Chairman R. G. Miller has interviewed the commissioners relative to the proposed vote on local option recommended in the resolutions adopted by the county committee Monday. The proposed vote is for an expression of sentiment as a guide for the action of our Assemblymen and Senators. The commissioners said they could see no objection why such a vote could be taken and said they would do what they could to have the ballots prepared accordingly at the next primary.

J. E. M'CARDLE ASSUMES CHARGE OF POST OFFICE THIS MORNING

John E. McCardle, the recently appointed postmaster of Charleroi, relieved John B. Brannagan of office this morning. The time of Mr. Brannagan was virtually out on June 30, but he remained at the post office yesterday and put everything in condition for Mr. McCardle, who this morning assumed charge. Dennis Oates, who relieves Miss Calista Kelly as assistant postmaster, was in the office last night, but in reality did not take on his duties until this afternoon.

There will be no change in the clerical force, as far as is known at the present time. William McFall will be the first clerk, as in the regime of Mr. Brannagan, and Miss Lydia Lambert second clerk. Edwin Cowell, will be in the position of third clerk.

The term of office for the postmaster in Charleroi is four years. Mr. Brannagan served almost two years beyond his time, from the reason of the holding up of his reappointment.

Mr. Brannagan expects later in the year to take a trip to Europe, where he will remain for several months. He made a good official and everything was in the best of shape when he turned over the office to Mr. McCardle.

There was no inspector present to make the change of officials, the only persons being present beside the regular force when Mr. McCardle took charge was Harry Byers of Monessen, assistant postmaster of that place.

GUN CLUB'S WEEKLY SHOOT

Some Good Scores Are Made By Charleroi Gunners.

At the regular weekly practice shoot of the Charleroi Gun Club Thursday evening the following scores were made:

Schuyler broke 63 out of 75
Gween broke 62 out of 75
Stevens broke 54 out of 75
Emerick broke 54 out of 75
Grant broke 53 out of 75
Baxendell broke 38 out of 75
Shoemaker broke 44 out of 75
Irose broke 22 out of 50
Rowe broke 17 out of 25

Gween and Schuyler were tie on their first 50 birds with 45 each. Schuyler dropped 5 in his last 25 and Gween 6. Emerick shot a nice score for a beginner, getting 39 out of his last 50 birds.

RETURNS FROM KENTUCKY

James Crow has Relics Which He Secured in Blue Grass State.

J. T. Crow, who has been engaged in lumbering for some time at Greensburg, Ky., returned last week to spend the Fourth with home folks. The point in Kentucky where Mr. Crow is located was the hunting ground of the Indians from prehistoric times until the advent of the English occupation, and there are many evidences of the aborigines still in existence. While there Mr. Crow opened several Indian mounds and graves, and secured many interesting relics. Among these are stone skinning knives, tomahawks and other articles carved out of stone.

One of the relics is called by old settlers there a bloodstone, which Indians were said to have used to rub on wounds and sores and was believed to possess great curative qualities. The display of relics is to be exhibited in the windows of Piper Bros.' drug store. Mr. Crow also brought back some timothy heads from Kentucky which measured 12 and 14 inches in length.

Sharpnack-Mason.

The many friends of Thomas P. Sharpnack and Miss Mildred Mason of North Charleroi were much surprised this morning when it was made known that the couple had been married on Tuesday at Cumberland, Md. The couple slipped off quietly and returned in the same manner, not allowing their friends an inkling of what was taking place. Mr. Sharpnack is an employe of the United States Government at North Charleroi and both are popular.

L. C. B. A. Outing.

A very enjoyable time was spent Wednesday evening by the members of the L. C. B. A. and their friends at Estherly Terrace, the home of Hon. and Mrs. Edward Callaghan. The lawn was decorated with Japanese lanterns and presented a very picturesque appearance. About 40 guests were present. The diversions were games, music and cards. A sumptuous lunch was served by the hostess.

CHANGE AT LOCK FOUR POST OFFICE

R. G. Staley Assumes Charge J. O. Watson Retiring.

Yesterday the North Charleroi postoffice changed postmasters, R. G. Stalley assuming charge, relieving J. O. Watson, who has been in the position since 1904. Mr. Stalley recently in an examination under the new law regarding the placing of postmasters for fourth-class offices, made the best average, of four applicants and was declared postmaster.

The North Charleroi post-office has doubled its business since Mr. Watson assumed charge. He has rendered effective service, and left affairs in good condition for Mr. Staley.

Mrs. Anna Wiley.

Mrs. Anna Wiley, the wife of Postmaster Norman E. Wiley of California, died yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock at her home at the age of 35 years. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the late home. Interment will be in the Highland cemetery. The deceased is survived by her husband and one son, John, at home. Mrs. Wiley has been an invalid for nearly four years. Three weeks ago she had her teeth extracted, and as a result it is thought blood poisoning set in, and death resulted. Mrs. Wiley died in the same house in which she was born. She is the daughter of the late John Shalenberger for some time State clerk at Harrisburg.

Notice to Public.

Street Railway Arbitrators Chosen

Head Officials Pick One Man And the Employes Another.

In accordance with the proposition of Mayor Magee of Pittsburg adopted by the railway conductors and motormen of the Pittsburg Railways company and the company officials in the settlement of the strike, two arbitrators were named yesterday to arbitrate the case of James Ashford, who is charged with taking intoxicating drinks while in uniform.

The Railways company, through General Superintendent R. N. Jones chose D. B. Oliver. Ashford and the members of the union named Attorney William J. Brennean. Attorney Brennan and Mr. Oliver will make an effort to select a third man today. Should they fail to agree Mayor Magee is to name the third man to act with them.

VACANCY IS FILLED

George H. Chessman Elected To Position in High School.

COAL CONTRACT NOT LET

The school board succeeded in filling but one vacancy in the schools last night, at their regular meeting. This was the High School. George H. Cheeseman, last year in charge of the night school, was elected to the position of assistant principal. There is still one High School instructor, three grade teachers, a principal and the music teacher to elect.

It was voted to allow the building committee, of which George Gunderman is chairman, $100 for fixing up of playgrounds at the rear of the Fifth street school building. The place will be equipped in the latest manner for a playground.

Dr. O. A. Davis made a report of the result of the suit which had been instituted several days ago against the borough of Fayette City, to collect funds due for the instruction of pupils in the High School. The suit was favorable to Charleroi.

The matter of awarding of the bids for furnishing coal to the four buildings was left over, and bids will be readvertised for. There are 10,000 bushels to be delivered to the various buildings.

Have a "Swim" in The Natatorium And Then Take Lunch.

SUPT. GEORGE NASH HERE

Presented With a Stein, Toastmaster Sam Todd Making the Speech.

As a sequel to the excursion to Monessen two weeks ago, where they visited the plant of the Pittsburg Steel company, the Charleroi Merchants Association held a natatorium party at Turner Hall last night. Supt. Geo. Nash and his corps of assistants has been invited as honor guests from Monessen, and they were brought over the river in automobiles and shown through the Macbeth-Evans chimney factory. A most appetizing lunch was prepared and served by the young ladies of the Turn Verein, and the menu, which had a German flavor, appealed most strongly to the assembled company. All were loud in its praise.

S. C. Todd, who so ably presided at the Monessen feast as toastmaster, again officiated. He was introduced by President J. H. Bowers of the Merchants Association, and with a few well-timed remarks, presented Supt. Geo. Nash, the honor guest, with a handsome stein, a token from the association. Mr. Nash gracefully acknowledged its receipt, and expressed his appreciation of Charleroi hospitality.

Col. A. P. Stewart was called upon and recited with fine effect "Shannon's Old Shebeen." John D. Berryman next responded, and he gave a most forcible talk on home loyalty.

In introducing W. A. Miksch, superintendent of the decorating department of the Macbeth-Evans Glass company, who is also president of the local Turn Verein, Toastmaster Todd remarked that previous to a recent visit to the factory he was under the impression that pearl top chimneys were about the only product of the factory. He was amazed to learn that the pearl tops were only a side issue; that the company makes over 4,000 different patterns of lamp glasses.

Mr. Miksch welcomed the merchants to the club house of the Turn Verein, and said the premises were at the disposal of the guests. Speaking of the decorating department Mr. Miksch said this branch was new yet in the country, but in the past five years it had stopped a big percentage of the importations of this ware from abroad. The Macbeth-Evans factory is one of a very few plants in the United States, less than half a dozen, that has developed this branch of the industry.

Others who responded to the call of the toastmaster were Assistant Superintendent Rowe of the Pittsburg Steel company of Monessen; Christopher Brown, superintendent of the Carrara department of the Pittsburg Plate Glass company at Charleroi, W. C. Clark, T. P. Sloan and E. C. Niver.

After the exercises the company adjourned to the natatorium below where those who desired took a plunge in the well appointed swimming pool. Others remained above and listened to the music by the Turn Verein singing society, which, under the direction of Prof. Joseph Grundhoffer of Monongahela, rendered a fine program. This

How it is Done.

The remarks of Supt. W. A. Miksch of the decorating department of the Macbeth-Evans Glass company at the Merchants Association lunch at Turner Hall last night conveyed some information that is important. This is that Charleroi is the scene of the development of a new industry which in the past five years has materially decreased importations of decorated products that are now made here in sufficient quantities to give employment to a big army of workmen, as well as the establishment of an industry that is bound to rapidly expand and become permanent. Five years ago decorated shades, chimneys, and lamp glasses were made almost entirely abroad, and the Macbeth-Evans people are among the pioneers to establish the industry in this country.

This is an object lesson of the importance of protection for American industries. In this particular instance, as in every other, a start is made by a single factory. It is readily seen how easily this could have been broken down by the combined interests from abroad if the infant industry did not receive protection at the start. As the product of one factory must of necessity be limited, the European manufacturers could have sold their product in competition under cost for a time if they finally succeeded in breaking down the new concern. After that was done an increase in prices would have recouped all the losses.

All new industries have a struggle for existence. The rapid development of this country's industries shows most conclusively that the policy of protection shortens this struggle and gives permanency almost from the start. It is the policy of progress for this country.

It Works.

By voting $100 to equip available school grounds for public play grounds during the vacation period, the Charleroi school board has performed a most important service. In all probability the time is not far distant when the school board will go a step further and employ a teacher for each school ground thus equipped to look after the children, and teach them to play and enjoy themselves rationally and profitably. This is already being done in some localities.

If any persons doubt the wisdom of providing public playgrounds, they should look over the one on the Berry-[illegible] lot on Fifth street. This is so crowded at times that all cannot participate in the amusements provided, and many stand awaiting a turn. Nothing is more necessary for Charleroi than continuing and extending this project, and it would be public economy to impose a tax for the purpose of maintanance. The system works.

Heavy Tribute.

Wothless dogs exact a heavy tribute from the farmers and stock-raisers of Washington county. According to the Washington Record, which has made an investigation from the county records, claims for damages from this source are filed against the county aggregation $6,450. These cannot be paid until the damage fund, created by [illegible] is replenished. There is never enough dog tax collected to pay for the damage done by the worthless curs.

Even though farmers eventually get paid for damage done by dogs the community suffers a distinct loss, as something useful is destroyed and is not replaced by anything useful. So far as utility goes there is no comparison between the flocks of sheep destroyed last year and the flock of dogs that take their place. So long as dogs take the place of sheep, lamb chops, mutton and wool socks will be expensive luxuries. The dogs must go.

The scrupulousness with which some people observe the various week day holidays betrays the fact that with them Sunday is not always the day it should be.

The merchants in swimming looks like a lot of Apollo Belvideres (?) But then what can you expect from such a bunch of hard workers?

A NOVEL POLICEMAN.

Story About a Sagacious Dog and His Master's Money.

One day a man laid a wager with his friend that if he were to hide a silver half-dollar in the dusty road his dog would find it and bring it to him. The wager was accepted and the coin secreted. When the two had walked some distance from the hidden coin the owner called his dog, explained that he had lost something and ordered him to find it. The dog turned back, while the two friends continued their walk.

Meanwhile a traveler driving along the deserted road saw the silver piece shining through the dust and picked it up and put it in his coat pocket just as the dog came to the spot. The man re-entered his phaeton and drove to the inn, closely followed by the dog. The dog scented the coin in the man's pocket and made wild leaps at him to obtain it, but the man, supposing the animal had taken a fancy to him and wanted a master, gave the dog food and caresses and took him to his bedchamber for the night. No sooner had the man undressed than the dog seized the coat and made for the door. The man opened the door to see if any one was without, when the dog bounded through the hall and did not stop until, coat in mouth, he reached his master's house. The traveler followed and accused the dog of robbery. "My dog is a very faithful creature, and if he ran away with your coat it is because you have money in your pocket which does not belong there."

The traveler grew angry, but when the master explained the burial of the half dollar and the dog's desire to find it he understood and cheerfully gave up the money, saying as he patted the dog, "You are indeed a novel policeman."—Philadelphia Ledger.

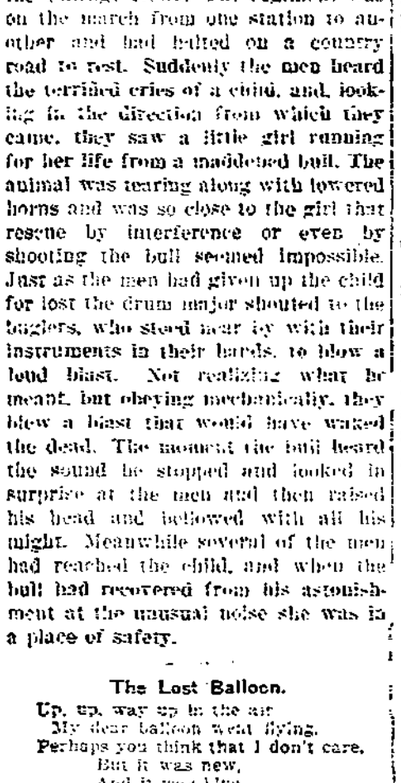
A STIRRING INCIDENT.

How a Child's Life Was Saved by a Blast of Bugles.

The drum major of a German regiment recently showed that he does not lose his head in an emergency, says the Chicago News. The regiment was on the march from one station to another and had halted on a country road to rest. Suddenly the men heard the terrified cries of a child, and, looking in the direction from which they came, they saw a little girl running for her life from a maddened bull. The animal was tearing along with lowered horns and was so close to the girl that rescue by interference or even by shooting the bull seemed impossible. Just as the men had given up the child for lost the drum major shouted to the buglers, who stood near by with their instruments in their hands, to blow a loud blast. Not realizing what he meant, but obeying mechanically, they blew a blast that would have waked the dead. The moment the bull heard the sound he stopped and looked in surprise at the men and then raised his head and bellowed with all his might. Meanwhile several of the men had reached the child, and when the bull had recovered from his astonishment at the unusual noise she was in a place of safety.

The Lost Balloon.

Up, up, way up in the air
My dear balloon went flying.
Perhaps you think that I don't care,
But it was new,
And it was blue,
And, oh, I feel like crying!



Up, up, way up in the sky
It never heard me calling.
It's dropping now, and that is why
Some other boy
Will see my toy
And catch it while it's falling!
—Youth's Companion.

What Cats Are These?

There's a cat very good for food, 'tis said.
And a cat marks the resting place of the dead.
There's a cat that makes a discordant sound
And a cat that is made to scatter round.
There's a cat that crawls beneath our feet
And a cat whose movements are quick and fleet.
There's a cat that blanches our face with fear
And a cat that wanders far and near.

She Followed Instructions.

In a certain city, which shall be nameless, a thrifty man had told his wife as she was starting downtown to buy a couple of shirts for him. She asked him what kind, and he answered, "Size 15."

"Yes, but"—

"Two dollars."

"But I want to know"—

"Oh, the color? Well, I've plenty of white shirts. Get me something that won't show soot. Now, don't bother me any more, please. I'm at work."

She did not bother him any more. She went away and in the afternoon returned with her purchases.

"Here are your shirts, John," she said, laying them down before him.

"Why, they are red!" he exclaimed.

"Yes, that's the only kind that won't show soot. They are just what you told me to buy. Now, don't bother me by talking about them. I have got to go and look after the children."

Being "game," John took his medicine without protest.—Youth's Companion.

ROYAL MAIDS.

When They Wish to Marry They Must Do the Proposing

When a reigning queen is to be married she must be the one to broach the subject first to her future consort. The same rule holds good with regard to all royal ladies who marry commoners.

The late Queen Victoria has told how she managed to "put the question" to Prince Albert—how she first showed him Windsor and its beauties and the distant landscape and then said, "All this may be yours." The queen of Holland on a like occasion simply sent a sprig of white heather, begging Prince Henry to look out its meaning in a book of flowers and their meanings. The Duchess of Argyll took the following means of proposing to the Marquis of Lorne: She was about to attend a state ball and gave it out that she would choose as her partner for the first dance the man she intended to honor. She selected the marquis, who subsequently became her husband.

But perhaps the most interesting of all ways chosen was that of the Duchess of Fife. She took the earl, as he then was, to a drawer and showed him its contents. There he saw a number of trifles he had given her at different times, including sprigs of several kinds of flowers, now dead, he had picked for her at various times. He was much impressed at the sight, nor did it require words on her part to make her meaning plain.—London Answers.

London Snowstorms.

The purifying effect of a snowstorm on city air was shown in London by experiments which demonstrated five times the amount of impurities on week days, when all the factories are active, as on Sundays. It was figured out that nevertheless a single Sunday snowstorm carried to the surface of the county of London 75 tons of dissolved solids, 142 tons of suspended matters, 100 tons of coal, 25 tons of salt and a ton of ammonia.—London Chronicle.

A Sudden Start.

"You used to go to school with Coppers, the new millionaire, didn't you?"

"I did. Fact is, I gave him his first start in life."

"How?"

"With a bent pin."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

On His Birthday.

"Wherever we meet misery we owe pity.—Dryden.

ADENOIDS.

The Way These Growths Endanger the Health of Children.

Adenoids are curious little cauliflower-like growths which appear at the junction of the nasal cavity and the pharynx. They are often observed at birth, but they seldom cause discomfort until some months later. Then they interfere with respiration and cause the baby to be restless. It tosses in its sleep and wakens suddenly, crying out as if in distress.

If adenoids are permitted to remain they deform the mouth, teeth, throat, chest and face. At their worst they produce pop eyes and what is called a frog face. They cause mouth breathing, with all its attendant evils. They open the way for a hundred and one ills, from rupture of the eardrum, running from the ears, coughs and tonsilitis to pulmonary tuberculosis.

A slight operation suffices to remove them. The baby suffers little pain and loses little blood. Out they come, and with them the overgrown tonsils that commonly accompany them. If they are suffered to remain they may never be discovered. But it is certain that in one way or another, directly or indirectly, they will cause damage.—Dr. Leonard Keene Hirshbergin in Delineator.

General Washington on Looting.

Headquarters, Sept. 6, 1776.—The Gen'l is Resolved to put a stop to Plundering or converting Publick or Private Property to their own Use when taken off or found by any Soldier, he therefore calls upon all the Men to exert themselves against it, and if the Coll. or other Officers of Reg'ts see or know of any Horses, furniture, Merchandize and such other Property in the hands of any Officer or Soldier and does not immediately take hold of it, giving immediate notice of it to their Brigadeer Gen'l, such Officers will be deemed a Party, brought to Court Martial & broke with Infamy. For let it ever be Remembered that no Plundering Army was ever a Successful one.—From General Washington's Personal Order Book in Journal of American History.

Too Public.

The young lady, with her fiance, was awaiting a street car. After several cars had passed and they could not get aboard the young man became impatient. When the next car stopped at the corner he leaned upon the platform and said in pleading terms, "Come on, Mary; we can manage to squeeze in here, can't we?" The young woman colored slightly, but [illegible] "I suppose we can, dear, but don't you think we had better wait until we get home?"—Buffalo Commercial.

My doctor said an operation was the only chance I had, and I dreaded it almost as much as death. One day I was reading how other women had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it. Before I had taken one bottle I was better, and now I am completely cured."—LENA V. HENRY, Route No. 3, Adrian, Ga.

Why will women take chances with an operation or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

SHE CAN'T PLEASE ALL.

The Many Trials of the Girl Who Is Advised.

There are some women who never give their friends much anxiety. Whether or not they are any stronger physically than some of their sisters, people seem content to take them and their welfare pretty much for granted. "Oh, to be in that favored class!" says the girl whose friends just love to worry about her.

She is one of many. You know the type. They are, as a matter of fact, rather reckless in matters pertaining to their health. They are too busy doing other things, but they have the unfortunate failing of "looking frail." They are thin instead of stout, pale instead of rosy, and when tired their eyes have the strange propensity of looking like the proverbial burnt holes in a blanket.

By common consent it seems to have been agreed upon that they need tending and constant watching.

If a chance friend meets one of them on the street she would blush to miss the chance of recommending her pet cure-all.

"I tell you what you ought to do," says the robust person. "You just get into the habit of taking egg and milk three times a day and you'll look like another person."

The next time it is cod liver oil that is just what she needs, and again it's horseback riding three times a week or massage that would do wonders for her.

The solicitous interest of a batch of friends would be trying enough to put up with if they didn't all insist upon proffering advice profusely.

One can't be taking eggnogs and eating juicy steaks and lying down and taking walks in the fresh air all the time. One hasn't time to attend to so many matters, and, besides, sometimes they conflict.

"The waist you sent looks very well on me," writes one girl, "especially when I 'stand up straight,' as Lucile is always thumping me on the back and commanding me to do.

"I strut about looking very smart in my new blouse and very well pleased with myself and my straight, upstanding position until Jane comes along and admonishes me to relax. 'Child, relax. You must relax,' she chants solemnly.

"It's really quite a problem to know what to do, for I'm strong on making them all happy, but I can't be standing up straight and relaxing and throwing back my shoulders and lying down for a little rest all at the same time—these dear 500 friends, if only one could please them all, but how can it be done?"

Inherited.

"I entertained some friends at dinner the other night at a well known hotel in Boston," said a New Yorker, just returned from the Hub, "and was served by an ebony giant on whom lampblack would make a white mark. It is the custom at that particular hostelry for the waiters to write their own orders. Upon receiving my bill I could scarcely check the items. The spelling bore no similarity to any other under the sun.

"'Sam,' I said, 'this is the worst spelling I ever saw,' and added facetiously, 'where did you learn to spell?'

"Without moving a muscle Sam replied courteously, 'I reckon, boss, I must have inherited it from my ancestors.'

"The laugh being on me, Sam got an extra tip."—New York Times.

A Heroic Dog.

Near the Hospice of St. Bernard, Switzerland, is a monument to Barry, one of the dogs, which always interests tourists. This animal died some years ago, and a writer in the Wide World Magazine tells his story: "During the ten years he was at the hospice he saved the lives of forty persons who had lost their way in the snow. On one occasion he found a child ten years old lying in the snow under the influence of the fatal slumber which precedes death. The dog warmed the child with its breath and then roused it from sleep by licking it. This much accomplished, Barry by lying down on its side gave the child an obvious invitation to get upon its back and ride. The child did so and was carried to the monastery. Barry was killed by some unknown person, probably in mistake." The inscription on the monument is: "Barry, the Heroic. Saved the Lives of Forty Persons and Was Killed by the Forty-first."

HOME HINTS.

When ivory handles have turned yellow rub them with turpentine and it will restore their color.

To prevent wooden pails or tubs from shrinking when not in use paint them over with glycerine.

Coarse salt sprinkled on the floor occasionally before sweeping is said to be a good preventive of moths.

If the juice of a fruit pie runs out, try putting a small funnel of white paper in the center of the upper crust.

Try washing the hands with a little sugar added to the soap. This greatly increases the cleansing power and will remove dirt and chemical stains in a wonderful manner.

If when salt and flour bags are emptied you will put them in the clothes hamper to be washed and boiled out, you will always have a supply of jelly strainers. The salt bag is just the thing for the odd glasses of jelly made all during the season.

It is a great mistake to use fine glass tumblers for lemon squash or other beverages which are required to be very highly iced. If they are employed, however, the precaution should be observed of placing them to steep for some little time in cold water before filling them with the iced drink.

Gives Studio Teas For Pet Cats.

Desire to attract attention probably is just as strong among American women writers as it is among their sisters in France, but in this republic they do not dare go to the length of wearing men's clothes, which have been adopted recently by ambitious penwomen in France. The law there being lenient, these literary lionesses are permitted to stride down the boulevards garbed in fur trousers. But in America this is not possible, and women of letters must have recourse to other methods. An eccentric writer who bears a high sounding title delights, when receiving guests, to wear diaphanous drapery and repose on a lounge. Sometimes she shuts her eyes, and the guests may have the pleasure of gazing on sleeping beauty. Society seems to have discarded freak performances only that "intellectual queens" may take them up. A pretty young writer in Washington, whose father has an official position, gives studio teas for the pet cats of her friends, and the co[illegible] spend hours solemnly selecting the proper shade of ribbon to make a neck ruff for a particular pussy.

Fatal Vacillation.

Cultivate firmness of purpose. Without it, though your talents are high and your opportunities wide, your life record will be "nothing done."

Who is the one among your friends who has arrived? Is it the show girl of school days, the girl who could do many things well, but rarely knew what she wanted to do? The successful one is the girl of whom you can remember nothing save her pertinacity.

No girl succeeds who does not set her mind along a certain line and stick to it, though difficulties mount and temptations to turn aside are strong.

ANSWERED THE LETTER.

The Way a Brooklyn Politician Once Won a Bet.

There is, or was a few years ago, a neatly framed letter hanging in the consulting room of a Brooklyn doctor which he found in his mail one winter morning. It ran as follows:

Princeton, Jan. 12, 1898.

Dear Sir—I cheerfully accede to your request and acknowledge the compliment paid to my wife and daughter by bestowing their names upon your own twin daughters, and I hope these children may be spared to be of constant comfort to their parents. Sincerely yours,

GROVER CLEVELAND.

The young doctor's brain whirled. Being a bachelor and having no acquaintance with the former president, he could not understand it at all.

The mystery was solved when a friend of the doctor's, a Brooklyn politician, met him. The politician had made a bet with a cynical acquaintance that any American statesman would personally reply to a courteous letter from the humblest of his countrymen. The cynic took him up and named Grover Cleveland. The terms of the bet were that the answer to a letter mailed on Jan. 3 must be received before Jan. 25. Signing the young doctor's name, the politician wrote of how his marriage had been blessed by twin daughters. Would it be asking too much for an autograph letter to frame which the sweet twins could look upon and read when they grew up and cherish ever afterward?

Mr. Cleveland courteously and promptly answered the letter, and the politician won his bet.—New York Tribune.

THE GREAT ROOT JUICE WILL BE HERE IN THE MORNING

The Wonderful Health Creating Discovery Will be at Piper's Drug Store.

So much has been published and said about the scientist and his great discovery and so many stories have been told of the wonders accomplished in a very few days with his great health-giving Root Juice that many are getting anxious and would like to see the wonderful remedy that has made many remarkable cures during the past few months. The newspapers of a number of cities have told of hundreds of cures the Root Juice has made, and some of the stories afloat are almost too good to be true. It is said that many people who had given up hope of ever seeing another well day—even some who the best doctors of the country had pronounced incurable—after taking the juice a short while were restored to perfect health. The remedy seems to remove a soreness from the stomach, bowels and bladder, and soon so heals the kidneys and liver that the blood making and blood filtering organs work in healthy unison. Then all forms of indigestion, belching, heart-burn, sick headache and constipation are cured as the cause his has been removed. It seems that it cures rheumatism by preventing fermentation in the stomach and bowels and by giving the kidneys the health and the strength to filter all accumulated acid from the blood. The reporter was told that the demonstrations would begin in the morning at Piper Bros. drug store.

Root Juice is $1 a bottle. Three bottles for $.250.

His Little Joke.

It was just two years after their wedding.

"George," she said romantically as she gazed at the fantastic pictures the red coals formed, "do you remember our courting days?"

George laughed teasingly.

"No, my dear, I do not."

She looked up with a hurt expression.

"George, do you mean to sit there and say you do not remember our courting days? Why, I am shocked at your coldness."

"No, dear; I do not remember our courting days because only night watchmen have to do their courting in the daytime. But I do remember our courting nights, and they were delightful, pet."

The Chinese Sampans.

In Canton 400,000 people spend their whole existence in boats, which are there called sampans. They are born in them, live in them from infancy to old age and finally die in them. Collectively these boats form a floating suburb to the city proper, one of the most amazing human settlements in the world. Every creek is crammed with them. Along the main banks of the river they are huddled twenty deep—so close together that the covering of mats appears continuous as far as the eye can reach. And each sampan houses a separate family, with its own big brazier lamp, which serves for heating, lighting and cooking the evening meal. The scene when a really serious conflagration once gets a proper hold in the midst of these floating wooden homes may be imagined. Escape is impossible except for those moored at the outermost edge. In one of these conflagrations over a thousand persons lost their lives.

ORDINANCES NO. 215.

An ordinance regulating the sale of milk and cream in the Borough of Charleroi; providing for the licensing of persons, firms and corporations to sell milk or cream in the Borough of Charleroi; providing for the marking of the wagon or other vehicle with the name and number of the license; providing for the examination of herds; prohibiting the mixture of borax, boracic acid and other drugs and chemicals with milk, cream or buttermilk; regulating the amount of fat to be contained in milk and cream; prohibiting the sale of milk or cream from residenses infected with contagious disease; regulating the housing and stabling of cows, providing for the cleaning of cows before milking; prohibiting the sale of milk or cream from cows within certain specified times of calving; regulating the care and manner of milking and the handling of the milk at the dairies and on the wagons and vehicles; imposing a penalty for failure to procure license or for breach of any of the requirements of this ordinance.

Be it ordained and enacted by the Burgess and Town Council of the Borough of Charleroi, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by authority of the same:

Section 1. No person or persons, firm or corporation, shall sell milk or cream in the Borough of Charleroi without first, annually before the first day of March, making application to the Board of Health, which application shall set forth his, her or their name or names together with location of place of business, and the name of the owner of and location of the dairies from which they obtain said milk or cream, and such other information relating to the care of said dairy and the production and care of milk and cream as may be deemed necessary by said Board of Health, said application to constitute an agreement between the applicant and the Board of Health for faithful compliance with all the rules and regulations of said Board, and obtaining from the Board of Health a license to carry on such business, which license shall be issued without charge and shall be kept in every store or wagon from which said milk or cream is sold.

Section 2. Each and every person or persons peddlings milk or cream in the Borough of Charleroi shall have the wagon or vehicle from which milk or cream is sold, enclosed conspicuously marked, in plain letters not less than three [3] inches high with his, her or their name or names and the number of the license under which said milk or cream is sold. And each and every person or persons peddling milk or cream in the Borough of Charleroi without the use of wagon or other vehicle shall have each vessel or can used for this purpose plainly and legibly marked with the name and number of license, in a conspicuous place in letters at least ¾ inch in height.

Section 3. No milk or cream shall be sold, offered for sale or distributed in the Borough of Charleroi unless each and every animal in the herds from which said milk is obtained shall have been examined within one year, to the satisfaction of the Board of Health, and the veterinarian shall furnish to the owner or owners of said herds a certificate, on blanks to be furnished by the Board of Health, which certificate shall be sworn and subscribed to before a duly authorized magistrate.

Section 4. No person or persons, firm or corporation, shall offer or expose for sale, sell or have in their possession with intent to sell in the Borough of Charleroi any milk, cream or buttermilk, to which has been added borax, boracic acid, salicylate of soda, benzoate of soda, formalin or formaldehyde, or any other chemical, compound or foreign substance whatsoever, including ice or water. The precentage of fats in milk is not to be less than three [3] per cent, and that of cream not less than fifteen [15] per cent, and vessels or cans containing buttermilk must be plainly labeled as such.

Section 5. No milk shall be sold or handled by any person or persons in whose family or residence there is a case of smallpox, scarlet fever, diptheria, typhoid fever, epidemic cerebrospinal meningitis (spotted fever), measles, or other communicable disease that may be disseminated by milk or its products, nor from any dairy or premises on which such diseases exist, except by permission of, and in manner prescribed by the Board of Health, and in accordance with the rules and regulations of the State Department of Health, and it shall be the duty of every person having charge or control of any premises upon which cows are kept to notify the Board of Health of any such disease on the premises.

Section 6. No milk or cream shall be sold or exposed for sale in the Borough of Charleroi except from cows kept in light, dry and well ventilated stables and in all other respects in conformity with the requirements set forth in the following rules:

Rule 1. Each cow shall have at least three [3] feet in width of floor space, when fastened in stanchions, and in all cases where no adequate artificial means for ventilation are provided, each animal shall have an air space of at least five hundred [500] cubic feet.

Rule 2. Milk drawn from cows fed on distillery waste or any substance in a state of fermentation or putrefication or any unwholesome food shall not be kept, sold or offered for sale in the Borough of Charleroi.

Rule 3. All stables for shelter of said cattle shall be provided with a tight, dry floor. The manure drop shall be so constructed as to provide a clean and sanitary stall.

Rule 4. The wall and ceilings of said stables shall be clean and free from dirt which might fall into the milk at the time of milking.

Rule 5. Manure shall not be allowed to accumulate in large quantities in stable yards, nor near the building where the cattle are kept, and when stored temporarily in such places it shall be removed at least once a week to a distance of at least twenty-five [25] feet from said stable. The stable yards shall be drained and kept in a clean, dry condition, and no accumulation of household garbage, vegetable or other putrescible matter shall be allowed to remain or decay, in said stable yards.

Rule 6. Cattle, especially their udders and flanks, shall at all times be kept in a clean condition, and the udders shall be wiped dry and clean with a clean, damp cloth before milking.

Rule 7. No milk or cream shall be sold or exposed for sale, or distributed in the Borough of Charleroi, obtained from any cow that was calved within five [5] days, or from a cow that will calve within twenty-one [21] days.

Sec. 7. No milk or cream shall be sold or exposed for sale in the Borough of Charleroi except from cattle fed and watered under proper and healthy conditions and all food given shall be good and wholesome and the water supply pure and free from all contamination by sewage or household drainage.

Sec. 8. All milkers and other attendants employed in any dairy, the milk or cream from which is sold or offered for sale or delivered in the Borough of Charleroi shall be personally clean and healthy and before milking or caring for the milk or cream, they shall be provided with and be attired in a clean suit of clothes and to wash their hands before handling the milk or cream and before milking each cow.

Sec. 9. All milk pails, cans and other receptacles used for the production and transportation of milk or cream shall be of some non-absorbent material and shall before each use, be thoroughly washed with water and soap, or soda, and then scalded with boiling water or live steam, thoroughly aired and kept upside down in a cool place, and they must not, under any circumstances, be rinsed with cold water, unless the same shall have been previously boiled before using.

Sec. 10. No milk or cream shall be kept for sale or distributed, or handled, transferred to or from cans and bottles, or stored, in any stables or similar places, or in any room used wholly or in part for domestic or sleeping purposes.

Sec. 11. Milk or cream shall be stored or regularly mixed, cooled or poured from cans, only in a room not directly connected with a stable or stables, provided with a tight floor, and kept constantly neat and clean, the walls of the room being of such a nature as to allow easy and thorough cleaning, and the room being of such size and construction as to prevent probable contamination by dust, noxious gases, infectious organisms or anything liable to impair the quality of such milk or milk products.

Sec. 12. No water-closet or privy shall be in the aforesaid room nor in any room connected directly therewith, nor shall dog or cats or other domestic animals be allowed in these rooms at any time.

Section 13. Whenever milk or cream is filtered or strained, cooled or in stored room, said room shall be such as is described in sections 10 and 11.

Section 14. No person or persons, firm or corporation, shall deliver or bring into the borough of Charleroi for sale, any milk or cream, unless such milk or cream is contained in a can or container sealed with a metal seal by the shipper thereof and unless such can or container shall have such seal intact at the time it is brought into the borough.

Section 15. Milk or cream kept for sale in any store, shop, market, bakery, hotel, restaurant or other establishment, shall be always kept in a covered cooler, box, or refrigerator, properly drained and cared for and while therein shall be tightly covered or closed, and only in such location and under such conditions as shall be approved by the Board of Health.

Section 16. All cans, bottles or vessels of any sort used in the sale, delivery or distribution of milk or cream to the consumer, must be clean and boiled, baked, scalded or steamed, by the same dealer before they are again used for the same purpose, and bottles must not be filled with milk or cream except at the dairy or milk depot from which distribution is made.

Section 17. Under no circumstances shall a milk or cream dealer in the Borough of Charleroi, or his or her employes, take from a house within which any of the diseases mentioned in Section 5 of these regulations exist any money, tickets, cans, bottles, etc., or enter such a house for any purpose whatsoever without written permission from the Board of Health.

Section 18. Whenever any of the diseases mentioned in Section 5 of these regulations becomes epidemic in the Borough of Charleroi as adjudged by the health authorities, the use of milk bottles and such other containers as are left on consumers premises by milk dealers or their employe's shall be discontinued within the Borough of Charleroi until such time as existing health conditions warrant the permission of the health authorities to resume their use.

Both the householder and milk dealer will be held responsible for any violations of this regulation.

Each and every person, firm or corporation shall be liable to a fine of not less than $5.00 nor more than $50.00 for each and every violation of this ordinance or of any rule or regulation herein contained, said fine or fines to be collected as other fines are by law collectable.

All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Ordained and enacted into an Ordinance this 29th day of June, 1900.

JOHN E. HEIN,
President of Council, Pro Tem.

Attest: IRA L. NICKERSON,
Clerk of Council.

Examined and approved by me this 29th day June, 1900.

We are Agents for the Red Cross Shoe

Get style and comfort—get both

The hundreds of imitations of the Red Cross Shoe show what a demand there is for it among women.

The leather for the Red Cross Shoe is tanned by the special Red Cross process which takes six months, but preserves all the leather's natural life and suppleness.

The moment you slip your foot into the Red Cross Shoe, you feel the difference.

It bends with your foot, moves with it just as a glove moves with your hand. Women with the most sensitive feet wear it with perfect ease.
